Jasmine Sparkes is an emerging Australian country artist based on the Central Coast of New South Wales.

Australian country artist Jasmine Sparkes has quickly become one of the country's rising performers, with Top 40 Australian Country Radio Airplay success, performances at the Tamworth Country Music Festival and Qudos Bank Arena, and a growing catalogue of original music.

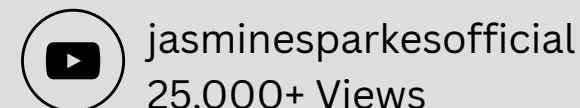

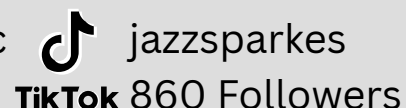

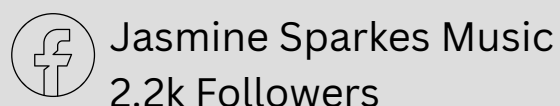

Her debut EP, Sparkes Road, produced with acclaimed songwriter and producer Andy Kelly, reflects her journey. Her original releases, including Country To Coast, 6 Dinners, Sparkes Road, and You've Got Time To Kiss Me, have connected with audiences and country radio, with Sparkes Road reaching the Top 40 on the Australian Country Radio Airplay Chart.

Alongside her original music, Jasmine fronts the Jasmine Sparkes Band, delivering a high-energy country show featuring hits from artists including Chris Stapleton, Luke Combs, Cody Johnson, Brooks & Dunn, and Lainey Wilson. Performing at festivals, clubs, and venues across Australia, the band is known for creating audience centric, memorable live experiences.

Inspired by her late father, legendary Australian media personality Ken Sparkes, Jasmine brings authenticity, warmth, and passion to every performance. With a growing catalogue of original music and her debut EP on the horizon, she is fast becoming one of Australia's most exciting new country artists.

Jasmine Sparkes is more than a country singer—she's a storyteller with a voice ready to resonate across Australia and beyond.
